

URGED

Lynching Of A Former Mt. Vernon Man

Wanted To Repeat Work Of Newark Mob

Thomas Kline Gets Into Serious Trouble

Nelsonville, O., July 13—Cries of "Get a rope. Let us do what they did at Newark," nearly resulted in another lynching here last night.

Thomas Kline, a member of the police department out on bail after his arrest on a charge of killing John Lanning a few days ago, tried to arrest Wendell Kelly for drunkenness. Kelly was in front of the residence of Amos Nelson and in the struggle was pushed into Nelson's house. Nelson took his part and defied Kline to arrest his friend. Kline sent for Chief of Police Eddington. The chief was told by Nelson that the arrest could not be made without a warrant. This formality complied with, Eddington and Kline started with Kelly to the city prison.

On the way to the jail the officers were surrounded by a gang of men and boys who threatened Kline. One man threw a brick, while another demanded a lynching.

The mob spirit failed to materialize and Kelly was locked up.

Thomas Kline referred to in the above special is a former resident of Mt. Vernon. A season or so ago he held the position as policeman at Lake Hiawatha park and wore a uniform and a cap with the inscription "Chief." He made his home in Mt. Vernon for several months.

LIGHTNING

Cuts A Queer Prank At A Shelby Home

Dr. R. C. Winbiger had an unpleasant experience with the lightning Saturday afternoon while making hay on the farm of Isaac Landis, east of Shelby. As the thunder storm came up he was just leaving the hay field, the team being hitched to an empty wagon. The storm was rather severe and the lightning struck somewhere near the doctor. He was shocked and rendered unconscious. He fell from the wagon, and the horses, having no driver to guide them and being frightened by the lightning, ran toward town. They came along all right until they reached the east side square where they upset. Here the team was caught by Bloom Buck, who turned them around and started in the country in the direction they came from to find the owner. Just as he reached the edge of the corporation he met Grover Copeland, who was returning with Dr. Winbiger. He found him unconscious, and lifting him into his buggy, he was bringing him home. The doctor was still in sort of a stupor and seeing that he was in such a shape that he could not manage the team, he was taken on to his home, while the horses were driven by Mr. Buck. All day Sunday he continued to feel rather peculiar, but this morning he again left for the hay field and is working as usual. Mr. Winbiger states, however, that he feels rather stiff and sore as the result of his experience.—Shelby Globe.

Killed Was A Resident Of Warsaw, O.

(Coshocton Times)
Otto A. Hamer, aged 27, of the Warsaw vicinity was kicked in the chest by a horse at 7 a. m. Tuesday morning and died in a few minutes. Mr. Hamer had driven from his home which is on a farm in the Warsaw vicinity to the home of his father, Jacob Hamer, of the Princeton neighborhood reaching there about 7 o'clock. He had just unhitched the animal from the buggy and passed behind it to remove the harness when he was kicked with terrific force in the chest. He was dead in a few moments as nothing could be done to aid him.

The death of Mr. Hamer is a terrible blow to his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Hamer, and to his bride of a few months. The fact that he was married on the 16th of May of this year and had just established himself and bride on the comfortable farm makes the death all the more sad. His wife was formerly Miss Dora Fitch, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Fitch of Coshocton and is well known here.

Mr. Hamer parted with his wife Tuesday morning in good spirits and taking a horse and buggy drove alone to his father's home to aid in the harvesting. A short time afterwards his wife was almost prostrated with the news that he was dead.

The attending physicians have forbidden anyone to see him. Mrs. Thomas Sutton, Mr. French's mother, went to Mansfield Wednesday morning, but was unable to see her son on account of his nervous condition.

The physicians at the hospital stated that his nervous condition was no doubt due to the shock of the injury he inflicted upon himself and from the effects of the anaesthetic administered when the surgeons dressed the injuries.

Do Not Burden Senator Brown Of Nebraska

Poorest Man In The Upper House—He Dgs Diligently For The Common People

James B. Morrow, the newspaper special writer, whose articles from Washington are always worth careful reading, had a half page in Sunday papers this week on Senator Norris Brown of Nebraska. The article was illustrated with a picture of the senator, whose face is of the handsome, determined sort. Senator Brown is a live wire in the senate, and is the father of the income tax law.

Mr. Morrow, while interviewing the insurgent, progressive, "trust busting" statesman, remarked that newspapers of Nebraska said in 1907 that Senator Brown would be the poorest man in the upper branch of congress. The senator replied that while he was not bragging about his poverty he guessed the newspapers were right. He said that his brother Frank can make nothing and save money, but that he cannot do this. However, he finds blessings in poverty, but one evening when he lacked a nickel and had to walk home from a dinner party he realized that money has its advantages.

While attorney general in Nebraska he got after the railroad corporations and fought them successfully on assessments for taxing purposes and recovered enough money to pay off the state's debt.

When Senator Brown comes to Hiawatha assembly on Saturday afternoon, July 30, he will deliver an address on "The Insurgents, Who They Are and What They are Trying to Do." This is but one of the many fine assembly numbers.

CRITICAL

Is Condition Of Young Noah Westbrook

Of Utica Who Accidentally Shot Himself

Lad Is Now At Mt. Vernon Hospital

Noah, the fifteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Westbrook, of near Utica who accidentally shot himself in the left leg, just above the knee while handling a rifle at his home on Monday evening, was brought to Mt. Vernon on the afternoon train on the B. & O. Tuesday and taken to the office of Dr. James F. Lee in Chapplear & Co's. ambulance. An examination was made under the X-ray, but the bullet could not be located.

Later in the afternoon, the boy was taken to the Mt. Vernon hospital for an operation. It was found by the surgeons that four perforations had been made in the intestines, these being closed, but although a scientific search was made, the bullet could not be found. It is supposed that when the rifle was discharged, the muzzle was pointing upward and that the bullet passed through the leg into his abdomen, thus puncturing the intestines.

The injured boy's condition is considered very critical.
